Forest Fires

Arkansas' forest fire record last year was one of the worst ever. Some 5,700 forest fires burned over 173,500 acres, causing damage estimated at more than $3,000,000. In Hempstead County, 119 fires burned over 4,289 acres. More than one-third of these were of incendiary origin. Normally 60% of all forest fires occur in March and April or this has been so during the last few years.

Ruby Case to the Jury by Friday

By RELMAN MORIN

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Attorneys for both sides say they expect to put Jack Ruby's fate in the hands of the jury Friday—the 13th.

The lawyers agreed that testimony will be completed today. Ruby has not taken the witness stand. There are no indications that he will.

As the end of the trial neared, Ruby appeared much the same as he has from the beginning. At times, he looks worried; at other times, his face is a mask. In the last few days, his lawyers have been talking more frequently with him, putting an arm around his shoulders, patting his hand.

Ruby is charged with murder with malice in the shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy. The state demands that Ruby be sentenced to die in the electric chair. His defense is temporary insanity. Because of this plea, his lawyers must prove that he did not know right from wrong nor the nature and quality of his act when he killed Oswald.

Prosecution lawyers contend he did know what he was doing. They have suggested to the jury of eight men and four women that Ruby had some purpose, displaced by the river. It was expected to crest at 66½ feet in Cincinnati today, or 14½ feet above flood stage. This would be the highest since 1945. No accurate estimate was available on the number of homeless in Kentucky, which reported one flood death as did Indiana. The other fatalities were in Ohio.

Damage, not officially estimated, was expected to run into the millions of dollars. Typical of hard-hit towns was Shepherdsville, Ky., south of Louisville, where eight feet of water covered downtown.

At Louisville, National Guardsmen helped city workers and firemen install flood gates. The quick-rising river jumped through one opening, at the foot of 10th Street, before it could be plugged. The affected area is on lower ground than the main downtown section but some businesses were affected.

A crest of 46½ to 47 feet was expected Friday morning at Louisville but the wall was being readied to stand one of 48 feet. The river was only about a foot below the predicted crest early today and about 18 feet over flood stage.

The Red Cross said more than 12,000 victims were housed in Red Cross shelters Wednesday night.

The Red Cross planned to set up a disaster headquarters at Cincinnati to aid victims in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Govs. Edward T. Breathitt of Kentucky and Matthew E. Welsh of Indiana asked that President Johnson declare many counties—30 in Kentucky and 20 in Indiana—disaster areas. This would make available various types of federal aid.

Thinks Primary Meant Nothing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The New Hampshire primary meant nothing, Arkansas' Republican Party chairman said Wednesday.

William L. Spicer of Fort Smith, here on party business, said Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., would be nominated for president at the GOP National Convention in San Francisco this summer.

It will come "after the favorite sons have been disposed of on the first ballot," Spicer said. All 14 New Hampshire convention votes are committed to Henry Cabot Lodge on the first ballot. After that, delegates may vote as they choose.

Lodge upset Goldwater and such as "gaining fame and fortune."

Weights — and contradictory — psychiatric testimony has been given for both sides by specialists.

Wednesday the prosecution called a parade of psychiatric experts to discuss Ruby's mental condition, the meaning of the so-called abnormalities on encephalograms — tracings of brain waves — taken when Ruby was examined, and the critical question of whether he was legally sane on Sunday, Nov. 24, when he shot Oswald.

No Curfew for Women at UCLA

By DORIS KLEIN

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA, which startled some parents with coeducational dormitories, has come up with another experiment—coeds without curfews.

Officials at the Los Angeles campus of the University of California said Wednesday they were dropping a curfew for women students over 21 and women graduate students.

Juniors and seniors in good academic standing also can stay out all night—with their parents' permission.

"I guess you might say we're a little more liberal than most universities around the country," said UCLA Dean of Women Mrs. Nola Stark Cavette.

Sororities, however, aren't sure they'll accept the new regulation, added Mrs. Cavette. "They're talking it over."

Up to now, all women students living in dormitories had to be in by midnight on week nights and by 2 a.m. on weekends. The rule now will apply only to freshmen and sophomores.

The new rules are an experiment, she said, as the dormitories were three years ago.

"We weren't sure what to expect then, either. But it's worked out."

"No one's been expelled for immorality—just a very few for having liquor in their rooms or breaking furniture."

Up to 800 young men and women live in the three coeducational dormitories—but they don't exactly live together.

"We have the men in one tower and the women in another. They mix in the public rooms—the cafeteria, living room, library and lounges—but each wing is locked separately."

A night clerk presses a buzzer to admit a young man or woman to their respective wing after they show identification cards, complete with photograph.

French to Send Trucks to Reds

LYON, France (AP) — The Berliet Company said Wednesday it would begin delivery of $8 million worth of trucks to Communist Cuba within the next few weeks.

Britain's Leyland Motors has contracted to supply $10 million worth of buses to Castro, but has not announced a delivery date.

The United States has protested both sales.

Wants Bonds for Strickland Firm

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Edward M. Penick asked Little Rock's City Manager Board Wednesday to put before the voters a $12 million bond issue to build a facility for Strickland Transportation Co.

Penick, president of the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce, said the Act 9 bonds would finance construction of a new truck terminal and garage.

The Dallas firm has announced plans to transfer 200 of its drivers from Cleveland and Dallas to Little Rock.

When the move is completed, Strickland is expected to have a payroll here of almost $5.5 million, second to that of Little Rock Air Force Base.

The board put Penick's request on its agenda.

Al Kaline Has Turned to Pitching

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Al Kaline, Detroit's No. 1 hitter, has turned to pitching.

It's the first step in a conditioning program aimed at strengthening a weak right arm and guaranteeing a quick getaway when the baseball season opens.

"When I was younger," said the 29-year-old outfielder after a workout at the Tigers' training base, "I never had any trouble. But in recent years I've been running into problems with my arm, and I've had to ease up on my swing. It's kept me from getting off to a good start."

"So I've been working out just like a pitcher—throwing, catching, running."

Kaline, who challenged for the American League batting title last year and finished with a .312 average, also has been doing exercises on a roller-type system of equipment designed to build up his right knee.

"It's a Mantle-type thing," said Kaline, who agreed he could have suffered serious damage when he banged against a wall during a game at Los Angeles last July. Mantle broke his leg in a similar accident at Baltimore last season. Kaline pulled a ligament.

"It popped as I hit the wall," Kaline explained, "and for a while it was gimpy. Sometimes when I put a lot of pressure on it, it would buckle. I played on it for about 2½ months. Then I went into a nose dive, and by the last two weeks of the season, I had to sit on the bench."

The nose dive cost Kaline an opportunity to win the batting championship for the first time since 1955 when he was in his third year with the Tigers.

It also sent him off to Mayo Clinic for a complete physical and a lengthy rest period.

A Little Bit of Nothing on Politics

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Gazette delved into ways to do patriotic duty—and found that it is difficult to work for a Republican presidential candidate in Arkansas.

The paper posed the question, "How or where do you go about signing up to work in Arkansas for a favored Republican presidential candidate?"

A voice at the office of the Two Party System, a Republican organization, said, "That's a good question. The only work being done is for Goldwater."

But no one answers the phone at the Goldwater headquarters. A newsman squinted through a window and saw an office empty except for an American flag, a desk, file cabinet and some neatly stacked Goldwater literature.

"Well, there's hardly ever anyone there," the aide at the Two Party System said. "But I can give you a number where you can get in touch with a Goldwater committee member."

"What can a person do if he wants to work for Barry?" the newsman asked the Two Party aide.

"He ought to call me up or one of the members. We'd come and talk to him, or he could come down and see us. What do you want to know all this for?"

"Well, we're trying to avoid publicity."

"Why?"

"Sometimes the publicity we get is not too good."

How does a person sign up for Nelson Rockefeller?

"He can get in touch with Mr. George LM Hinman, Room 5600, 33 Rockefeller Plaza, New York."

"New York?"

"New York." Mr. Hinman is handling Rockefeller's affairs in Arkansas.

"Well, what about Henry Cabot Lodge?"

"Who?"

King Paul of Greece Is Buried

By GERALD MILLER

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — King Paul of Greece was borne to his grave today, attended by six of Europe's seven reigning monarchs and other dignitaries from around the world.

The dead king's son and successor, King Constantine, 23, walked with his weeping mother, Queen Frederika, and his sisters, Crown Princess Irene and Princess Sophie, behind the flag-draped coffin on a caisson pulled by Greek navy sailors.

The foreign mourners were led by King Baudouin of Belgium, Queen Juliana of the Netherlands, King Frederik of Denmark, King Gustav of Sweden, and King Olav of Norway.

Only Queen Elizabeth II of Britain, who gave birth to her fourth child on Tuesday, was absent. Her husband, Prince Philip, represented her.

Nearly 800,000 Greeks lined the mile and a half route of the cortege through downtown Athens.

Former President Harry S. Truman and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson were there for the United States. Walking with them were 18 princes, 8 princesses, 7 dukes, 2 duchesses, 2

Wants Another Look at Vote

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)

Former Morrilton publisher Gene Wirges says he and Conway County Republicans have asked state and federal officials to take another look at the county's voting situation.

Wirges, who lost his newspaper because of libel judgments won by Conway County officials, suggested in a letter to the officials that the testimony in a recent trial on dual voting should be examined for new leads.

Billy Joe McSwain of Royal Oak, Mich., was acquitted of charges of voting in Arkansas and Michigan. Wirges said an FBI agent testified that Swain told him in a statement that he had been a registered voter in Michigan since 1950 and did not know who paid his poll tax in Conway County.

Wirges told a North Little Rock civic club Tuesday that King Paul died last Friday at Tatoi Palace, 16 miles north of Athens, of uremia following stomach surgery. He was 62 and had reigned 17 years.

Lodge Has the Old Pros Considering

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican party's old pros—its grassroots leaders—surveyed a lopsided political scene today and tried to figure out what happened in New Hampshire and what it will mean.

Most of them saw it as a victory of one kind or another for their particular favorite in the apparently wide-open GOP presidential nominating derby.

Many of the state GOP chairmen polled by The Associated Press discounted Henry Cabot Lodge's write-in victory as little more than New Englanders giving a favorite son pat on the back to another New Englander.

Others took the view of Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton: that Lodge is now one of the leading contenders "at the very least."

Some—particularly backers of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona—saw it as a blow to the hopes of New York Gov. Nelson the letter also was signed by Pat Calhoun, chairman of the Conway County Republican Committee and the Conway County Better Government League.

A. Rockefeller.

Rockefeller's backers contended the governor was the one who gained most. They argued he finished close to the second-place Goldwater after having trailed badly in the polls at the start of the New Hampshire campaign.

Richard M. Nixon, who ran fourth in the primary via write-ins, gave his view of what happened at a news conference Wednesday night.

"That very independent Yankee spirit seems to favor candidates who were farther away than the ones who were there," Nixon said.

He also said it would be a mistake to count out Goldwater and Rockefeller and declared, "The battle is still to be fought."

Practically all the state chairmen felt the same way—that there was a lot more ground, and primaries, to be covered before the candidate would be picked at the July nominating convention.

Thus the spotlight swung across country from the icy land of New Hampshire to sunny California where Rockefeller is already at work mining votes for the June 2 primary there.

This, Goldwater has said, will be the big one and he plans to follow his New York rival in to California on Friday.

Lodge Keeps on Job in Viet Nam

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department is operating as if Henry Cabot Lodge will stay on indefinitely as U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam.

Lodge's New Hampshire primary victory has boosted his Republican presidential nomination prospects, and stateside GOP candidates are calling on him to come home to campaign.

But State Department informants said the cable traffic between Lodge and Washington has been strictly business, that none of the Saigon dispatches has carried any hint the ambassador may resign and fight for the GOP nomination.

The word is that President Johnson has left it up to Lodge to say when and if he decides to forsake the diplomatic arena for the political.

Lodge said again Wednesday he does not plan to leave Saigon or resign. Citing foreign service regulations, he cabled Oregon authorities he was not a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination in the state's May 15 primary.

Some figure that both Johnson and Lodge have reasons for avoiding a Saigon ambassadorial change now.

There is speculation that Lodge wants to know more about his nomination prospects before making any public commitment.

Johnson is described as satisfied with the way Lodge has been performing his duties. And Lodge, the 1960 Republican vice presidential nominee, represents a sort of political insurance against GOP attacks on the administration's handling of the war in Viet Nam.

55 Present At Cub Scout Meet

There were 55 present for the meeting of Cub Scout Pack 92 Tuesday evening, March 10 at Brookwood School. Dr. Lowell Harris opened the meeting with prayer, and Den 4 led in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Cubmaster Hulan White had charge of the business meeting and discussed the Scout Exposition to be held in Texarkana on April 18 and the Kite Derby to be held in Hope April 5.

New officers elected by the group were Mrs. James Howell, secretary, and Tom Waters, financial chairman. Cubmaster White made several presentations of awards to the cubs. Dens 1 and 2 performed skits, and Den 2 had the largest number present of all the dens represented. The cubmaster concluded the meeting with a Chinese proverb.

PEO Elects Officers

At the meeting of Chapter AE, P.E.O., Tuesday, March 10 in the home of Mrs. Henry Haynes, the following new officers were elected: president, Mrs. Roy Bagley; vice-president, Mrs. Lynn Harris; recording secretary, Mrs. Cecil Wyatt; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Crit Stuart, Jr.; treasurer, Mrs. Jim McKenzie; chaplain, Mrs. Albert Graves; guard, Mrs. W. E. Trotter.

In the absence of the president Mrs. F. M. Horton presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Roy Bagley and Mrs. E. P. O'Neal were elected delegates to the convention in Jonesboro in April and Mrs. F. C. Crow and Mrs. W. E. Trotter are their alternates.

During the social hour a St. Patrick's Day theme was used in the decorations that included a green hat and Irish potatoes. This unusual combination proved to be charmingly effective. A dessert plate with nuts and coffee were served to 21 members.

Bride-Elect Honored With Morning Party

Miss Janice Bailey, bride-elect of Johnny Harrison, was honored with a morning party Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Ira Tyree on Route 5, Prescott.

A corsage of yellow mums containing a choice of the bride's silver was pinned on the honoree. The hostesses, Mrs. Tyree and Mrs. Delmer Tyree, also presented the bride-elect with a beautiful serving tray.

The Tyree home was decorated throughout with spring flowers. The dining table was covered with a linen cut work cloth centered with an arrangement of yellow mums accented with bird of paradise in a crystal container.

Sixteen guests were served iced drinks, dainty sandwiches, cookies and tidbits.

Says Boost for Kennedy Own Idea

By DION HENDERSON

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—A Milwaukee insurance man who says he was startled by the reaction to his incorporating a Wisconsin political committee to boost Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy for vice president, said today that it was all his own idea.

"Honest to God, this isn't any plot," Percy Silver told The Associated Press. "I've never been active in politics at all. But it seems to me Lyndon Johnson is going to run for president this fall, and what's a better ticket than Johnson and Kennedy?"

Silver filed documents Tuesday to incorporate "The Draft Robert F. Kennedy for Vice President of the United States, Grass Roots, Ground Swell Committee" with the Wisconsin secretary of state in Madison.

Asked if Paul Corbin, who resigned as patronage adviser to the Democratic National Committee last month—reportedly to take a job with the Kennedy family—had any part in the committee, Silver said: "Who's Corbin? I'm not even a Democrat."

The New York Times reported that Corbin's resignation was traced to President Johnson's belief that Corbin, a onetime Janesville, Wis., advertising man, had engineered the New Hampshire write-in campaign for the attorney general.

Silver said that during a business trip to the West Coast last weekend, "some of my friends and I got to talking and we think there exists in this country a tremendous public sentiment for Bob to be vice president."

TOKYO (AP) — Red China and Communist Romania finished eight days of high-level talks today in what Radio Peking called "a friendly atmosphere," but the purpose of the talks remained a matter of speculation.

Some reports say the Romanians went to Peking in an attempt to help settle the bitter ideological feud between Red China and the Soviet Union.

Man Acquitted of Murder

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — Harmon Benjamin Wingard, 32, of Pine Bluff, was acquitted by a Conway Circuit Court jury Wednesday of a first degree murder charge.

He was accused in the beating death of Frank A. Birch, 67, of Hattiesville, who was found dead in his cabin last Sept. 29.

Billy Gross, 27, of Hattiesville, was convicted of first degree murder in the slaying and sentenced last week to life in prison.

The jury of 11 men and one woman deliberated two hours and 45 minutes before freeing Wingard.

He testified that he saw part of the beating, but did not hit Birch. He said he saw Gross attack Birch.

Many Think Fair Won't Be Ready

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It'll never be ready, say many visitors as they gaze at the quagmire streets and the jumble of cement and lumber trucks amid the unfinished buildings strewn across the Flushing MDO site of the New York World's Fair.

But officials of the World's Fair exude confidence that most of the fair will be ready to open April 22, and I'm inclined to believe them.

I recall the clutter of work trucks and piles of debris at the Seattle World's Fair site on the day before the 1963 opening. Yet everything was spic and span for the opener.

A tour of the New York fairgrounds left the impression that the major exhibits will come under the finish line breezing.

You see action everywhere. The fountains around the Unisphere are being tested, shooting jets toward the 14-story-high stainless steel miniature of the earth.

The international exhibits look well along. The different pavilion, topped by a gleaming cross, seems ready to receive its star attraction, Michaelangelo's Pieta. The Thailand temple is golden and polished and Jordan looked prepared for its exhibit of the Dead Sea scrolls.

At opposite corners of the fair rise the Florida citrus tower and the reproduction of Grauman's Chinese Theater, which fronts the Hollywood exhibit.

And so it goes. Bustle everywhere. Overlooking the swarm of 9,000 to 10,000 workers, the visitor gets a striking visual

Differences Denied by RFK Aide

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT

WASHINGTON (AP)—A close associate of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said today reports of a feud between Kennedy and President Johnson are "just silly."

"There is no feud between the two," the aide told a reporter. "The attorney general and President Johnson have never been very close. But they are no farther apart today than they were three months ago. This talk of a feud is just silly."

Informal sources said Johnson and Kennedy had not discussed personally the feud talk. Reports of a rift have engrossed official Washington in the wake of a robust drive to get Kennedy's name written in as Johnson's vice presidential running mate in Tuesday's New Hampshire primary.

The reports persisted although Kennedy had issued a statement last week saying he wished to discourage any efforts on his behalf in New Hampshire or elsewhere.

Fears had been voiced that Johnson would feel nettled if Kennedy got more write-ins than Johnson did. As it turned out, Johnson polled 29,635, Kennedy 25,861 in the complete, unofficial count. But the feud talk persisted.

The White House has insisted that the schism is a creation of newspaper columnists. A close Johnson associate of long standing said he had "never even heard of this feud, except in the newspapers. They're putting 20 and 2 together and getting 20. I think the Republicans are promoting it to embarrass us."

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger scoffed at reports the two men aren't on speaking terms.

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Jim Barnes, 6-foot-3, 210-pound end and linebacker for Pine Bluff High School, signed a letter of intent to attend the University of Arkansas Wednesday.

His signature wrapped up Razorbaks recruiting in Pine Bluff. Arkansas previously signed Gordon Norwood, the Zebras' stellar quarterback; and half-back David Hunt.

Walter Weaver, a tackle and also much-sought griddler, signed last Sunday with Southern Methodist University.

Barnes and Norwood were rated among the top three high school football players in Arkansas this past season.

Bobcats Clear First Hurdle in Tournament

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sports Writer

The Bobcats made those who thought they knew all about it eat their words yesterday afternoon by crushing the Paragould Bulldogs 75-70 in the first round of the state tournament at Little Rock.

Paragould, declared the team to beat by North Little Rock coach Jimmy Culp, was also selected by state papers as the team who would play NLR.

The Cats shut them up by coming from behind in an unusually high scoring duel for the tourney.

The Bobcats' win will pit them against the Wildcats of NLR tonight at 7:30. The Wildcats defeated Catholic High of Little Rock 58-45 in the game before Hope's.

The decision was reached by watching them against Catholic that they're not all that they're cracked up to be. They may be pretty good, but they're surely not great. And the Cats can certainly beat them if they want to badly enough.

The match began with Hope dropping into a slight disadvantage. Trailing 14-10 at the end of the first quarter, they came back with a full press in the second period to bring themselves up to 31-31 tie at the half.

The Bobcats had gone to the lockers with a 1-point margin but it was gone when they returned.

The Cats got a small lead at the beginning of the third and kept it for the remainder of the quarter.

With Hope still leading by 5, the timer ticked past five minutes for the last time. About that time, Manuel Washington, big gunner for the Bulldogs, fouled out, but so did Jones.

The Dogs began to snap at Hope's lead. Biting off a big hunk, they brought it down to 62-60. Mike Archer and Johnny Honeycutt added some to the Hope kitty rather quickly, however, and Hope came out to 69-

Canadians Sorry He Left His Bed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An upset stomach almost scratched Toronto ace Frank Mahovlich from Wednesday night's key National Hockey League tilt with Montreal. The Canadians are sorry he didn't stay in bed.

Mahovlich not only played, but his 23rd goal beat Montreal 1-0 and dimmed the Canadiens' NHL title prospects. Their fifth straight winless game left the floundering Flying Frenchmen two points behind Chicago, idle Wednesday, in the run for first place.

"Now we have to win Saturday night against Chicago or the race is all over," Montreal Coach Toe Blake said after Mahovlich and goalie Johnny Bower had stymied the Canadians.

New York goalie Jacques Plante, who beat the Canadiens 3-2 last Saturday despite a 102 degree fever and held them to a scoreless tie the following night, had no such success in Wednesday's other game.

Last place Boston drubbed the Rangers 5-3 and formally ousted them from playoff contention. The New York defeat handed fourth place, the last postseason spot, to Detroit.

Honeycutt and Jerry Burnett went to the charity line for a couple more tosses but Paragould deftly subtracted these from the field. The time had run out however and the Dogs would have to head back home to wait for next year while the Bobcats contemplated North Little Rock.

Jerry Burnett led the scoring with a rugged 25 points; Johnny Honeycutt boomed in 20; Bill Reinhardt had 14; Dan Jones, 8, and Paul Henley and Mike Archer 4 each. Washington had 24 for Paragould, and Nutt had 14.

Miami, NYU Open Tourney Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Miami, the nation's highest-scoring major college basketball team, and NYU, one of the biggest disappointments of the season, help get the 27th annual National Invitation Tournament under way tonight.

Miami, averaging 96.1 points a game, battles St. Joseph's in the first game while NYU takes on Syracuse in the second.

Rick Barry, a 6-foot-7 junior, led the Hurricanes to their big average and their 20-6 record as well as their fourth post-season tournament in five years. He has scored 32.1 points a game, fifth best among major college players.

NYU had been expected to be one of the nation's top teams this season with Barry Kramer and Harold Hairston back for their last year. The Violets, though, surprised everyone by losing eight of their 23 games, including two to unheralded Wagner and Rider.

Jim Brown Back in His Normal Stride

NEW YORK (AP) — After yielding the honors to Jim Taylor for one season, Cleveland's Jimmy Brown got back into stride as the National Football League's most rugged runner in 1963.

The result was that official NFL rushing statistics, released today, gave Brown these firsts: Individual champion, best average, most touchdowns, most attempts, best one-game performance and longest run. With that kind of performance from Brown, Cleveland won the team rushing title for the first time since 1959.

In winning the individual championship for the sixth time in seven years, Brown gained 1,363 yards, shattering his own 1958 record of 1,527. Taylor, who interrupted Jimmy's string in 1962, when Brown was bothered by a wrist injury and disagreement with Coach Paul Brown, was second with 1,018 yards and Tim Brown of Philadelphia third with 841.

The Browns' Brown carried the ball 291 times, 14 short of his own NFL record. He averaged 6.4 yards per carry and scored 12 touchdowns by rushing. His longest run was 80 yards against Washington and his best game saw him gain 232 yards on 20 attempts against Dallas. The last figure was five yards short of another Brown record.

As a team, Cleveland led in all rushing categories but attempts and touchdowns. The Browns ran the ball 460 times for 2,639 yards and a 5.7 yard average. The Pittsburgh Steelers made the most rushes, 578, and the Green Bay Packers, 1962 champions, led with 22 touchdowns.

Buy a Towel and Help Beat the Russians

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Buy a towel and help beat the Russians in athletics.

This is an appeal which should stir every red-blooded American. Coming from pretty Carol Heiss Jenkins of Akron, Ohio, it becomes almost irresistible. She is the baker's daughter from Ozone Park, N.Y., who rose to be the greatest woman figure skater in the world and queen of the Olympics. Her only interest in towels at the moment lies in how much they can benefit Uncle Sam and the Olympic effort.

"Anything we can do for our Olympic teams at this time is very important," she said today as she draped a dozen of the red, white and blue items around her shapely shoulders. "We are being challenged as the world's outstanding sports nation. We need all the money we can get."

The towels are one of the many means being used to finance the U.S. Olympic drive, currently being pointed to the Summer Games at Tokyo Oct. 10-24 where the big opposition will come from the nationally subsidized athletes of the Soviet Union.

The huge towels, color of Old Glory and bearing the Olympic torch, have been placed in the nation's department stores. For every one that's sold for $3.25, a buck goes into the Olympic treasury.

"This may seem like a silly way to help pay for Olympic expenses," Carol said. "But it is our way to keep our teams free from government control. We are wholly dependent on contributions and campaigns such as this, because we are true amateurs."

Hope to Meet N. Little Rock Tonight 7:30

LITTLE ROCK (AP) The first Negroes to play in the state Class AA-AAA basketball tournament shot Fayetteville to a 50-48 first round triumph over Searcy in two overtimes here Wednesday night.

Louis Bryant scored the field goal that won it after teammate Robert Wilkes had controlled the trip and the Bulldogs stalled for the last shot. Bryant hit a jumper from within 10 feet with five seconds left.

In other games, Hope upset Paragould 75-68; North Little Rock eliminated Little Rock Catholic 58-46; and Forrest City surprised Blytheville 55-53.

Quarterfinals are today: Valley Springs plays El Dorado, Conway plays Pine Bluff, North Little Rock meets Hope and Fayetteville meets Forrest City.

The Fayetteville-Searcy game was tied 48-48 when the fourth quarter closed. The game had been close all the way.

The Bulldogs controlled the tip off the opening jump of the first overtime, stalled all but seconds away, but missed the last-gasp shot.

The same strategy paid off in the second overtime. Bryant finished with 10 points. Wilkes and Paul Ramey each got 11 to lead Fayetteville.

Bruce Smith scored 12, with Gary Overstreet and Randy Murphy each hitting 11 for Searcy.

Forrest City, Region 2AA champion, outshot and outplayed Blytheville, which became the first Big Ten Conference team to be eliminated from the tournament.

The Mustangs led by as much as 10 points in the game. Randy Lewis scored 17 for Forrest City. Charles Whitely led Blytheville with 13.

Hope is No. 1 in Region 4AA, and Paragould third in 2AA, but the decision still was regarded as an upset: It eliminated the defending tournament champions.

The Bobcats had a close race on their hands until midway through the fourth quarter, when they pulled ahead.

Jerry Brummet scored 25 for Hope and Johnnie Honeycutt added 20. Manuel Washington hit 21 and Charles Baxter 18 for Paragould.

North Little Rock was cool in the first quarter, but got hot later and had no trouble with the Rockets.

Richard Baldwin netted 29 points for the Wildcats, including 18 in the last quarter. Philip Bressnick hit 15 for Catholic High, which finished third in Region 3AA.

McCovey Has Trouble With Left-handers

By CHARLES MAHER

Associated Press Sports Writer
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Willie McCovey, who threw a few prophetic for a loss by becoming the regular left fielder of the San Francisco Giants, was asked what's to keep him from hitting 50 home runs this season.

"It's between me and the left-handed pitchers," he said. "I feel if I can do better against them I'll improve my home run output."

It doesn't really require much improvement. McCovey tied Hank Aaron of Milwaukee for the National League home run title last year. Besides hitting 44 homers, he also drove in 102 runs, batted .280, ran up 319 total bases and had a .566 slugging percentage.

But one thing troubles him. "I hit 36 home runs off right-handed pitchers," he said, "and just eight off left-handers."

"Now, any time a left-handed batter hits 44 home runs, you expect him to get more than eight off left-handed pitchers. I think I'd have to get at least 12, or maybe 15, off left-handers to finish up around 50."

"I think I'm capable of hitting a little more. But I'm not telling you I will. I'm not saying I'm going to."

"I'd be satisfied with another season like last year. But I would like to improve my average a little. Anybody wants to hit .300."

Willie is almost a dead pull hitter, and he seems to suspect that by pulling the ball so consistently he may be pulling down his average.

special training and to send teams abroad."

Griffin Will Not Fight in Italy Again

By PIERO deGARZAROLLI

Associated Press Sports Writer

ROME (AP)—The boos of the fans still rang in welterweight champion Emile Griffith's ears today as he declared "I shall never again fight in Italy."

This apparently won't make the Roman fight fans as mad as the drab no decision affair involving the New Yorker and Argentina's Juan Carlos Duran Wednesday night in the beautiful, high-domed Sports Palace.

Irate fans in the crowd of 12,000 brought a sudden end to the scheduled 10-round non-title bout in the seventh round when they littered the ring with bottles, oranges, shoes and garbage in protest of the dull cat-and-mouse bout. At times some fans yelled "Fix."

There was so much junk in the ring that referee Fernando Pica couldn't kick it all out. Then Pica, who had warned both fighters several times to show some life and throw more punches, stopped to consult with the three judges.

They decided to end the bout because of "the intemperance of the crowd."

Police swarmed into the ring to protect the fighters and escort them to their dressing rooms.

The boxers probably will get their purses since the decision to suspend the bout was based on the crowd's conduct rather than on the lack of action.

Griffith, who chased the evasive Argentine most of the way, was leading on The Associated Press' scorecard, four rounds to one, with one even.

The Argentine, who now lives in Italy, also was upset.

"I'm ready to meet Griffith again in Milan without asking to double his salary, has signed his 1964 contract, saying 'They had me over a barrel.'"

Bouton arrived at the Yankees' spring training camp Wednesday and accepted a contract calling for $18,000. The right-hander said he originally was going to ask for a $15,000 raise but lowered his price to $10,000 after encountering front office resistance.

He won 21 games and lost seven and had a 2.53 earned run average, the team's best, on a $10,000 salary last year.

Sheriff Was Nervous in Disguise

By RICHARD WHALEN

MARYKNOLL, N.Y. (AP) — Disguised as a Catholic nun, Frances Anderson, a deputy sheriff, waited alone in the Maryknoll Seminary's post office for the holdup gang.

"I was nervous," said Mrs. Anderson, mother of two. "I never had to do anything like this before."

Her role Monday was to convince the bandits that everything was normal at the tranquil Roman Catholic seminary. Hidden elsewhere in the post office, in the building across the drive and around the wooded landscape were more than three dozen policemen.

"I was sorting mail," Mrs. Anderson said, "when a voice said, 'Would someone help me?' He wanted a sheet of 6-cent stamps and I had to go to the safe for them. When I came back, there was a gun pointing at me."

"Don't be frightened, sister," the gunman said. "Just stand still and nobody will get hurt."

A second man went through the safe and three cash drawers. The first asked, "Where are the other sisters?"

"They're attending a special Mass," Mrs. Anderson told them.

The men ordered her into a rest room. "I soon heard the sound of the bullhorn, then shots and I fell to the floor and stayed there until it was over," she said.

The police, staked out after a tip in New York City that the holdup was planned, had sprung the trap.

"You're surrounded," boomed the bullhorn as the men loaded mail bags with $50,000 in cash and stamps into their car. "Drop your guns. Surrender."

The bandits shot toward the voice. Police returned the fire as the car sped down the drive. More than 60 shots were fired. The car spun off the drive.

Three men, all wounded, were captured. Five guns were found in the bullet-riddled car.

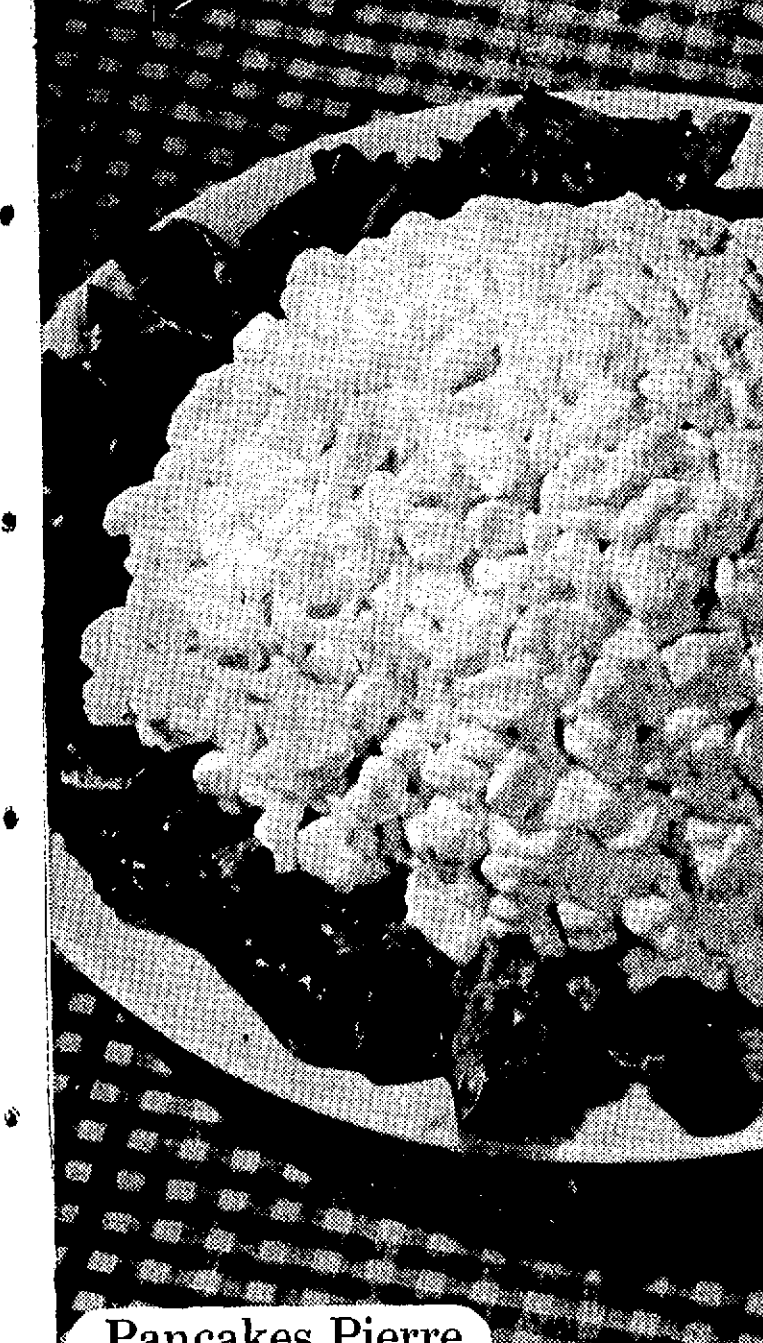

A fourth man, apparently the lookout, slipped around the back of the post office during the fight and escaped into the woods near Ossining, 25 miles north of New York City. Police said he also may have been injured.

HOW TO TELL IF THAT MAN IS THE ONE YOU SHOULD MARRY

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

Dear Dr. Brothers: I've become engaged to a man. I feel I love him, but I realize that this alone doesn't always guarantee happiness in marriage. It is not easy for a girl to make this decision. Can you tell me this, as a psychologist, what questions can I ask myself to reduce the risk of future unhappiness?

—B. B.

Dear B. B.: There are several sets of questions that have been devised for couples planning marriage, but I think one of the best is by Dr. L. F. Wood, and appears in his book, "How Love Grows in Marriage."

If some of these questions seem almost too simple, if you reflect for a moment, you'll find they have quite a bit of depth. These questions, and the conditions a couple should meet, are not necessarily asked in the order of their importance, but the first is this: Are you both in good health, and recognize the sanctity of marriage? Don't pass this off with a ready "of course." Think about it a moment. We find that a partner who has health problems can introduce difficulties into a marriage, and meeting its responsibilities.

Recognizing the sanctity of marriage weighs very heavily, too. More marriages have failed because they've been entered into as a lark, or in a "Why not try it?" attitude. Divorce court statistics show it has in common with marriages that don't work.

And there are social questions that Dr. Wood has found are very important. You may answer them with a ready "Yes" in courtship but they play more than you think in happy marriage later.

For example, you should both be socially well-adjusted before marriage, be respected by your friends and associates, and get on with your respect families.

Right off, this eliminates the habitual malcontents and disgruntleds, who initiate 95 per cent of the arguments and friction in marriage. So, this question had depth.

Dr. Wood points out that a home-making capacity is an essential in happy marriage, but is not always thought of in courtship, so he asks this: Is your planned husband able to earn a living suitable for setting up a home, and can you take care of it? And do you possess determination in the face of difficulties?

Another question to answer honestly: Can you take criticism without becoming oversensitive and hurt? Honest rather than flattering answers now will be important to your happiness later.

Spiritual and religious similarities also weigh heavily. If you have the same religious beliefs, are they equally important and impressive to both of you? They should be, for your greatest happiness.

Freedom from parental control on both sides is also important. Time and again we find conflicts generated by mother-son and mother-daughter ties—that is, overly dependent ties. Are you both free from from these?

Now a couple in love will very often feel that love is their major matrimonial need, and they say, "Of course, we will have children sometime." But now is the time, before marriage, for a realistic look at your family future. The average baby arrives somewhat less than two years after the marriage is made, so ask yourself this: Would you be a suitable parent, and would he?

Another family question: Do you agree on the size of the family you want? Now is the time to discuss it, not later when you discover you have diverse opinions.

Would each of you feel lost without the other, and miss the other more than anyone else in life? If you can answer "Yes" to this quite honestly, you have the closest definition of love that succeeds in marriage.

A Note To Men

It's been found that the best barometer to show that a person is about to leave his job is his absentee rate. If you've been absent from work more than usual in the last few months, and have not been seriously ill, it's likely that the thought of quitting will occur to you before long. On the other hand, if your absenteeism is low, you're probably due for a long stay.

It seems that, according to a study done at McLean Hospital in Massachusetts, quitting is a long process. We do it over many weeks and months; it doesn't just happen all at once.

There's an important psychological reason for this behavior. One of the most important things that keeps a person on his job is attraction to the group. This means not only his fellow workers, but also those above and below him and the company itself. As this attraction diminishes, the power of the group over him also goes down. And this was the power that made him conform to the expected behavior of the group. So his nonconformity is going to increase. And, of course, one of the most important ways that he conforms is simply by showing up in the morning.

So, if you stayed home from work today and you aren't ill, you may not have actually planned to quit your job, but it's possible that your unconscious has been at work on it for some time.

HOW TO FRY FISH TO PERFECTION

There is nothing better than crisp and crunchy perfect fried fish. Follow the basic rules: Use fresh oil for frying, and since the fat in all fish is unsaturated, then by all means use an unsaturated fat such as Mazola which is 100% corn oil. Fill the fry pan no more than 1/2 full. Dip the fish in flour or corn meal, or in a batter if you prefer. Fry at 375 degrees on deep fat thermometer or as indicated on the electric fryer or fry pan. Fry small quantities at a time. Always bring the fat back to the 375 degrees temperature before adding more fish. Fry two to three minutes or until golden. Drain on paper toweling and serve hot.

Batesville Having Housing Trouble

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Batesville city council attempted Tuesday night to override the mayor's veto of a resolution abolishing the city housing authority.

But the council could muster only five votes for the move to two against. Six were needed. One council member was absent.

The $2.5 million housing project has been held in abeyance since the council voted Feb. 25 to abolish the program. The mayor vetoed the action three days later.

The Housing Authority maintains it has spent or committed $18,000 in federal funds for the project and the city would have to repay this amount. Construction has not been started on the 160 units in the project.

The council also voted Tuesday night to ask the Public

Legislature May Lag, Says Brandon

JACKSONVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Rep. Jim Brandon of Pulaski County said Monday night the Arkansas legislature may abdicate its responsibility in the voter registration controversy to Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

Brandon told a Jacksonville civic club the legislature has often done this in the past. He said in 1961 it passed two diametrically opposed teacher retirement bills, giving Faubus a choice of measures.

Faubus said Monday he may have to make some recommendations on voter registration to "jell the issue" for the legislature.

A special session of that body is to be called to deal with voter registration.

The Legislative Council failed in pre-session meetings to decide which county officials should handle registration—county clerks, tax assessors or sheriff-collectors. And there has been controversy over a permanent vs. annual registration plan.

Side issues include party affiliation, stop-gap measures to provide legal registration until the 1965 General Assembly meets and maintenance of the poll tax—outlawed for federal elections—for state contests.

Brandon said Monday night, "Some people are urging that the legislature pass three voter registration bills and once again give the chief executive the choice of deciding the one he wishes to sign into law."

Faubus has said he would not mind making the choice.

"I feel the reason for this inclination on the part of the legislature is the lack of a clear-cut mandate from the people of Arkansas to the contrary," Brandon said. "Too many multiple laws are passed by the legislature that honor the right of a governor and dishonor the right of the people."

Brandon also said the special session will be given a choice between a bill "prepared in a matter of weeks by the Legislative Council and a bill prepared by the League of Women Voters in a matter of years of research."

The Legislative Council approved, in essence, a bill by Rep. J. H. Cottrell of Little Rock. Rep. Hardy W. Croxton presented the League of Women Voters views in his bill.

Show Changes Theme Right in Middle

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"The Hell Walkers," on NBC's "Show of the Week," began as a suspense story Sunday night, then changed course abruptly to become a meandering psychological drama.

The tale opened with a middle-aged German nervously preparing to leave prison after 15 years, with no place to go and no family left except a daughter of whom he had lost track. He is puzzled by a postcard he has just received that notes, "Remember, remember the fifth of September."

So far, so good. Particularly since we are quickly introduced obviously to one of those clever, suave agents preparing to pursue the freed man.

The suspense is over fast. The British fellow immediately informs the German that he has been hired to pursue him—to hunt him the rest of his life. A Dutch millionaire wants revenge for the death of his child in a concentration camp where the German was garrison commander.

The rest of the play traces the growth of an obsession about the dead child and the need for repentance, not in the old Nazi but in his tormentor.

Curt Jurgens made a sane, sad and sympathetic character of the German. John Mills was more dramatic but less believable as the Englishman.

Lucille Ball is not only returning to CBS next fall but has signed a three-year contract. The network plans next season to have her program follow the "Andy Griffith Show." It preceded Andy's show this season.

President Johnson will sit down for an hour-long informal interview in the White House Saturday for television broadcast Sunday. It will be a pool effort available to all networks, with CBS producing.

FORCIBLY EJECTED—When a 1½ million ton iceberg drifted down McMurdo Sound's man-made shipping channel in the Antarctic, it had to be moved by the U.S. Navy icebreaker Atka. Moving Moby Dick, as the iceberg was named, was no easy job; it was 500 feet long, 200 feet wide and 100 feet high. After a two hour duel, however, the Atka won.

FOLLOWS A WIRE—This weapon is designed to provide ground troops with heavy firepower against tanks. It's called TOW (for tube-launched, optically-tracked, wire-guided missile) and is shown here at Hughes Aircraft's Culver City, Calif., plant. When the gun is fired, the projectile (held by soldier at right) travels through the air and unreeles two thin wires through which it receives steering signals so that course can be changed in flight.

THE WEeping WIDOW MINE

By Nelson C. Nye

THE STORY: After escaping from T. K. Jones, who has a claim on his latest gold find, Charlie Medders is trying to decide what he should do next to keep his discovery secure.

X

The man's lunging breath was hot against his neck—he could picture those hair-matted arms reaching for him. There was one crazy chance and, desperately, Charlie took it.

He dug in his heels and went down in a convulsive twisting fall. He heard the Irishman curse, but the man couldn't catch himself. Something crashed agonizingly against Charlie's hip as O'Toole, hanging into him, spraddled out in a teething-sprawl.

Charlie wasted no time trying to help the guy up. Hardly pausing to feel himself over he got out by the shortest route.

But Phineas O'Toole was not a man easily shaken.

Medders knew before he'd gone half a block the fellow was after him. He tried to lose the assayer in a maze of dark alleys. Glancing back as he came forth with ragged breath into the lamp-laced traffic of Meyer Street.

Shoving frantically across a pedestrian crammed walk Medders dashed recklessly into the street, wildy diving in front of a 12-horse hitch. Skirting a hack, barely missed by the wheels, scarcely hearing the angry yells of its driver, he ducked through a rack of tied ponies and, in sheer desperation, flung himself through the batwings of Tony Florida's swank Carleton House bar.

It was the only safe place he could think of. A kind of sanctum sanctorum the retreat of big business, it had become over the years a sort of unofficial club for the town's top strata citizens.

With a sigh of relief Medders headed for the bar, pleased to discover that, except for hired help and several well-dressed gents, with their silk tiled heads bent over a far table, the place at this early hour was practically deserted.

Just as he was fixing to plop a hoof on the rail the bald-headed barkeep, leaning forward confidentially, said sotto voiced above the glass he had been polishing: "You got into the wrong pew, Jack?"

Suspiciously sniffing Medders peered at him, puzzled; and just about there someone dug his sore ribs with a mighty rude elbow. "Outside, Mac, an' don't give me no sass."

Charlie, twisting his head, beheld a burly shape in tails and stiff shirt grimly flexing its muscles perhaps a half a step away. With that off-center nose, battered ears and out-thrust jaw the guy was obviously a bouncer.

Instinctively backing off a bit, uncomfortably aware of the road grime and the gaping torn knee of one split trouser leg, Medders had a disquieting vision of O'Toole hunched and waiting just beyond the varnished doors.

The skin began to darken in irate patches about his ears. Swelling up, he said affronted. "You're talkin' to a man which could buy this dump an' tear it down!" He slapped a handful of double eagles ringing on the bar. "Set 'em up," he said, "the drinks are on—"

The bouncer dropped a played paw on his arm. From the corner of a steel-trap mouth, he rasped: "Out!" with a jerk of the jaw in the direction of the street.

Medders shook off the hand. Peering arrogantly down the length of his nose he tapped the man's chest. "Do you know who I am?"

The man, big enough almost to make two of Medders, seemed taken aback and Charlie, thus encouraged, swung around to

Politicians Can Be Freely Criticized

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern senators are finding it easier than they apparently expected to keep up the flow of talk necessary to prevent a quick vote on the motion to take up the civil rights bill.

In the first two days of debate they had to deliver only three of their planned initial round of speeches. So others are still in reserve.

Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., for example, sent to newsmen Tuesday a copy of a speech he planned to make today. But later his office advised he could not even get the floor until Friday.

Supporters of the bill are trying to hold their remarks to a minimum. As usual in the Senate, there are a number of speeches on extraneous subjects.

For example, Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, held the floor for an hour Tuesday, urging that U.S. troops be withdrawn from South Viet Nam.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., prepared a speech for delivery today on the war in Southeast Asia.

The Dixie senators are organized into the three six-member teams which have served them so well in previous civil rights battles.

On the opening day of debate Monday, Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala., captain of one team, was the only member of that group who had to speak.

Tuesday, Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., captain of another team, and one of his associates, Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., used up all the available time.

The third team, headed by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., was ready to take up the speaking chores today.

Despite the smoothly function-the barkeep. "Come, come, my good man," he cried, pounding a rock-scarred fist on the bar. "The drinks are on me, and there's the cash to—"

"Takes more than cash," the baldhead stated, "to stand treat in this place. First you've got to belong. An' you're $600 short," he sighed, dribbling the gold like checks through stacked fingers, "of havin' the price."

Medders goggled. "One thousand dollars!"

Charlie pulled himself together. "All right," he muttered, and counted another 30 double eagles onto the bar. "There! I guess that does it."

"It ain't a question of money. You gotta be asked," the baldhead grinned, and gave his bouncer the nod.

Charlie never had a chance. He felt himself being lifted. He got back enough vision to see the boards blur beneath him, to have a peculiar sense of flying.

When he collected enough gumption to think of picking himself up, the first thing Charlie's groggy stare fastened onto was the toothy grin of Tiberius Jones.

Nation in Mood to Spend More

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation is in the mood to step up activities all along the line from spending to expanding. Welcome as this is to those who have charged that the economy has been lagging behind its potential, there are others who are stressing the need to guard against the perils which this boom psychology may heighten.

The perils they see: —Wage demands could increase production costs enough to water down, perhaps nullify, the benefits from the cut in federal income tax rates. Union leaders say there is plenty of room for higher wages without higher prices, and that increased purchasing power would add to the gains from the tax cut. Many important labor contracts are to be negotiated this year.

—Over-spending, first by consumers and then by business firms, as a result of the tax cut and the accompanying boom psychology could overheat the economy. All would like to see more economic growth than in recent years. But a quick boom, based on the tax cut, might lead to a bust next year, unless new stimulants are found and applied.

—Inflation could be the first fruit of over-spending that increased the demand for goods and a big boost in wages that increased the cost of producing goods. Remote as inflation seems now, with plenty of production capacity and an oversupply of idle workers, those who fear it might come if the boom psychology is promoted, point to Europe. Its prosperity spurt has brought on troublesome inflation in several countries. England, overheated by a tax cut, has had to raise interest rates to try to curb the boom.

—Unemployment offers problems that an anticipated boom might do little to solve. The growth in the labor force is at the wrong ends of the labor force. Unemployment is fed by a growing number of teen-agers many of them school drop-outs, who are untrained for available jobs. At the other end of the scale are older persons who are being dropped by industry because their skills are outdated or because machines are replacing them. Neither set of unemployed fits any better into the anticipated boom economy than into the present more moderate one.

—Automation is likely to be fostered, if anything, by the tax cut which gives corporations more funds to invest in machinery, and by any boom psychology that would lead companies to borrow to update their plants and make them more competitive. Present loss of jobs to machines each year is put by some at two million. —Profit squeeze might be intensified by all of the other perils. Despite record earnings last year, many companies hold that profit margins haven't kept pace with increased output and sales. They say competition is holding down prices to the point that companies don't make enough to attract new investments to finance the growth they might expect. But boom psychology usually attracts still more competitors into any field. And if wages go up, increased sales won't spell higher profit margins. Still worse, if inflation finally results, the benefits of any rise in the dollar volume of sales and earnings is erased, since the profit dollar buys less. All of these points are advanced by some business and financial economists as warnings. And even these worry-type experts agree that right now things look pretty good and that the nation as a whole seems to expect times to get even better.

U.S. Officers Finding Out Diem Lied

By PETER ARNETT
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The crewcut young American slogged his coffee with his spoon and reluctantly declared: "We were shocked to learn that what we had begun to suspect about the program was true."

He was talking about the strategic hamlet program which he, as a field officer for the U.S. aid mission, examined carefully after the Ngo Dinh Diem regime was overthrown last November.

Missouri Army Engineers, who opened bids here, had estimated the project would cost $35,066.

number of hamlets they were building in the countryside, he said. Worse still, scores of tons of aid supplies were stockpiled in dozens of warehouses around Saigon.

"This aid we gave was just not getting down to the people," the American said.

The Diem regime was cast into oblivion four months ago, but Americans in Viet Nam still see no noticeable improvement in the general policy governing strategic hamlets.

Most Americans with anything to do with the $60-million program that began with a blaze of publicity two years ago say that it continues to deteriorate.

The second military coup Jan. 30 threw into confusion what little coordination there was in the countryside.

The hamlet program, backed to the hilt by the United States was conceived as the answer to Communist raiders roaming the countryside.

In the northern part of Viet Nam, this seems to work.

In the south, the highly populated Mekong River delta and the crowded areas to the north of Saigon, the hamlet program has stagnated and virtually died. Americans close to the program say.

The hamlet concept called for the erection of defense perimeters around groups of houses followed by the rapid injection of economic aid.

This was satisfactory in the comparatively arid north, where people naturally congregated for mutual assistance. In the delta, particularly in hamlets made up of people forcibly resettled, resentment and anger arose.

The Vietnamese government, at the behest of both American military and civilian personnel, is threshing out a program to try to put new life into the hamlet scheme.

The government has decided: 1. No more forcible relocation of people into hamlets.

2. To adopt the "oil slick" concept for hamlet growth, so

Hamlets are established in ever widening circles to get the best security.

3. To revise the militia system in which villagers, most of them unpaid, were required to stand military guard on their own hamlets.

Although the government has laid down these ideas as policy, there has been no attempt to implement them, Americans say.

Province chiefs still lack specific guidance on policy. A province pacification scheme aimed at re-establishing hamlets is faltering because the soldiers set aside to carry out the work are being sent on military operations.

Alworth Takes Advertising Job

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Lance Alworth, San Diego Charger football star and former University of Arkansas halfback, has joined a Little Rock advertising agency for off-season work.

But he said his new job has nothing to do with politics. Alworth worked in Faubus' 1962 campaign and Faubus said that Alworth may work for him this summer if he tries for a sixth term.

Faubus also said that if he didn't run, he would try to get Alworth to work for another candidate to insure Faubus' stock with the next governor.

Alworth said Faubus' comments were in jest and that he is not on the governor's payroll. He said he admires the governor and probably would help him in any sixth term campaign. But he said this would have no connection with the agency, Cranford-Johnson.

Alworth was named the American Football League's 1964 training in July.

Money for Base

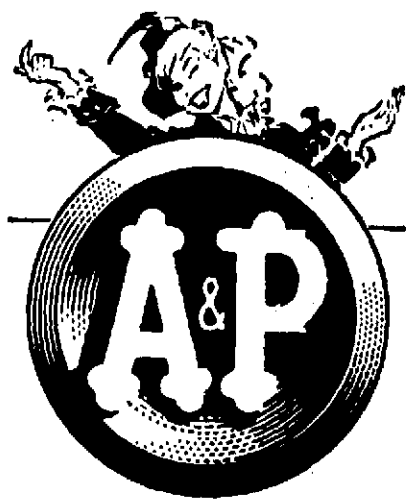

WASHINGTON—AP — The House Armed Services Committee approved Tuesday a military authorization bill that includes $690,000 for Arkansas installations.

The $1,590,666,000 bill includes $422,000 for Little Rock Air Force Base for construction of troop housing, and $268,000 for Blytheville Air Force Base for construction of troop housing, community facilities, and maintenance and production facilities.

The color palette embraces all the brown tones, from tan and golden brown through corvian and blackened brown. For casuals, the complete range of shades in the natural tan-nanges, plus charcoal tan and taupe, are most important. Black and mulberry, as well as the browns, are favored for dress wear.

Nobody's as Loose as a Loser

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nobody's as loose as a loser when the string begins to run out on a pennant race. The current National Basketball Association windup is no exception.

The lowly Detroit Pistons, feeling no pain at this stage of their worst NBA season, ambushed Cincinnati 114-103 Tuesday night and wrecked the Royals' Eastern Division title hopes.

The Pistons-turned gremlins thus assured Boston of at least a share of its eighth straight Eastern crown. One more Boston victory or Cincinnati defeat will put the Celtics over the top.

Two other also-rans, Baltimore and New York, had similar sabotage plans for the Western Division leaders. But San Francisco and St. Louis, running 1-2 and a game apart in the West, refused to follow the script.

The Warriors stepped away from the Bulls 129-111 and the Hawks shrugged off the Knicks 124-105.

Ray Scott and Jackie Moreland shot the Pistons ahead to stay early in the third quarter after Cincinnati's 60 per cent first half gunning gave the Royals a 59-56 intermission spread. Bob Ferry's three-point play finished the Royals after they closed to within four points in the final period.

Scott had 27 points for Detroit. Cincy's Oscar Robertson sank all seven of his first half shots and wound up with 33.

San Francisco, with Al Attles leading the way, struck for 41 third quarter points and broke up a close game. Baltimore trailed 51-50 when the Warriors exploded. Wilt Chamberlain scored 32 points for San Francisco one more than the Bulls' Walt Bellamy.

Cliff Hagan got 12 of his 34 points as St. Louis ran a 26-6 third quarter streak into a 93-73 bulge that kept New York out of upset range. Ex-Knick Richie Guerin added 23 points for the Hawks. Al Butler topped the Knicks with 18.

FASTEST PLANE IN THE WORLD—This graceful craft, the A-11, can knife through the skies at speeds exceeding 2,000 m.p.h.—better than three times the speed of sound. The jet interceptor, in the works for about five years, was announced by President Johnson at his first televised

Feud Does Exist Between Johnson, RFK

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some administration sources sought today to soft-pedal talk of a smoldering political feud between President Johnson and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

One White House official on close terms with both men insisted that relations between Johnson and Kennedy are excellent.

Others, however, insisted there has long been personal friction between the two and that relations were further strained by organized efforts to garner vice presidential votes for Kennedy in Tuesday's New Hampshire primary.

Although Johnson outpolled Kennedy in New Hampshire, and the attorney general acted last week to discourage efforts in his behalf, the write-in drive for Kennedy certainly was an embarrassment to both men—and helped inspire talk of a party feud.

In view of this, it seemed likely that some concerted effort would be made by the administration to promote Democratic harmony and scoff at reports of a rift.

In fact, the official who characterized Johnson-Kennedy relations as excellent appeared to be speaking for the White House, although he declined to be quoted by name.

It has often been said that Johnson has been cool to Kennedy for the past three years because Kennedy allegedly opposed selection of the Texan as the 1960 Democratic vice presidential nominee.

One man in a position to know said opinion on the choice of Johnson was sharply divided, but that Robert Kennedy argued for Johnson because of the Southern support he was expected to bring to the ticket headed by John F. Kennedy.

Another insider, while expressing no opinion on this subject, supported the view that there is no warmth in the Johnson-Robert Kennedy relationship. He said the President acted with great reluctance in sending the attorney general on his recent peacemaking mission in Indonesia and Malaysia. He said Johnson apparently did not want to give Kennedy a buildup as a potential running mate.

Kennedy has said nothing about his 1964 political intentions, if any.

He did say Tuesday in a talk at a junior high school, that "I'm not going to remain as attorney general after November." An aide said later that Kennedy did not mean to fix November as a deadline for resigning.

Although there has been Kennedy-for-vice president talk for the past three months, the attorney general said nothing substantive on the subject until last week, when he said he wanted to discourage write-in efforts in his behalf. He did not eliminate himself as a potential candidate.

TV Warms Up in New Hampshire

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The television networks moved into New Hampshire like an army on practice maneuvers for covering a presidential election.

Tuesday night was just like 1960. The magic computers were back in stage center and so were the boards with the changing vote figures.

Because of the computers, the suspense was over very early in the evening. By 7:30 p.m., EST, the electronic machines had digested early returns and the commentators were talking about the Lodge victory as if all the votes had been counted.

The early evening special programs on CBS and NBC, therefore, were much more concerned with analysis and speculation than with other aspects of the election.

NBC, with all its top newsmen on the job, used its staff for comment and predictions on the men, issues and coming events. CBS pulled in some interesting outside experts. Political pollster Louis Harris did a brief analysis on the way the vote was chopping into Rockefeller and Goldwater strength. On a second show, he amplified that, to state flatly that the Lodge victory meant a rejection of the two avowed candidates by New Hampshire Republicans.

Meade Alcorn, former GOP national chairman, and Theodore H. White, the other specialist, also spoke of the effect of the Lodge victory on the other candidates and potential candidates, particularly on Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania.

David Brinkley of NBC, explaining the reason for the enormous fuss over the New Hampshire primary, suggested it was partly because it was the first one in the election year and also because "it's a dull season of the year between football and baseball and besides it's fun to see millionaires stomping through the snow being folks."

Tensions of Word Have Diminished

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the problems taking up President Johnson's time, like jobs and poverty, bear testimony that world tensions have diminished a bit.

This may not last long, of course, since mankind still does not have enough sense to live in peace, more or less, indefinitely.

Johnson does have some unpeaceful problems to worry about, like how to win in Viet Nam. But to many Americans largely concerned with themselves, at the moment the war against Communist guerrillas in Asia must seem far off.

Yet, even some of the crises that poured over Johnson like a tide in his first 100 days have subsided.

Fidel Castro is left with his feet in the water he shut off from the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo; and Panamanians have become patient about revision of American treaty rights to the Panama Canal Zone.

It was in the midst of this comparative quietude that Johnson announced Monday a national manpower policy intended to cut down high unemployment which, he noted, averaged 4.2 million last year.

He will soon send Congress a message about eliminating poverty, or trying to. Some advisers recommend the draft registration be lowered to give his war on poverty an early start on rehabilitating needy youth.

All this—plus Americans' preoccupation with the presidential primary in New Hampshire today or with getting ready for fishing, baseball or Easter—makes this seem an almost tranquil time.

But not quite, even though the dirty little war in Viet Nam is far away. It is not only far from finished but the South Vietnamese, despite American backing, have been losing their shirts steadily.

The United States isn't fighting the war itself. The South Vietnamese are doing it with the help of American money, supplies, weapons and military men to teach them how to do it.

In a general way the American approach to this war is similar to that of the French who fought the Communists there themselves for eight years with their own troops, plus Vietnamese troops.

Both big powers stopped far short of an all-out effort.

The colonial-minded French, too stubborn to look at the clock and give the Vietnamese independence until the last minute, fought the North Vietnamese Reds with one hand behind their backs.

They never sent their draftees into that war. In the later stages of it they didn't even pay their own way. The United States had to bail them out for years.

By the time they were crushed and had to quit in 1954 the United States was paying three-quarters of the costs.

While this country wants to see the South Vietnamese win, and has promised to back them so long as they are willing to fight, there is no mood in this country for any kind of all-out war on the Reds of North Viet Nam.

For instance: by carrying the war to North Viet Nam or throwing American troops directly into the battle. Anything like that might bring Red China or the Soviet Union in on the side of the North Vietnamese.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara is over there now, on his second inspection trip since December, to see what he thinks needs to be done to reverse the defeats being inflicted on the South Vietnamese.

One of the big troubles, no matter how Americans might wish they could get out of South Viet Nam altogether, is that American prestige is at stake. This country went in there to crush the Red guerrillas.

If it quits or withdraws all of Southeast Asia looks like a push-over for communism. Yet, Johnson and McNamara have to wonder: how long can the United States keep this up if the South Vietnamese themselves won't do a better job of fighting?

Shriver to State

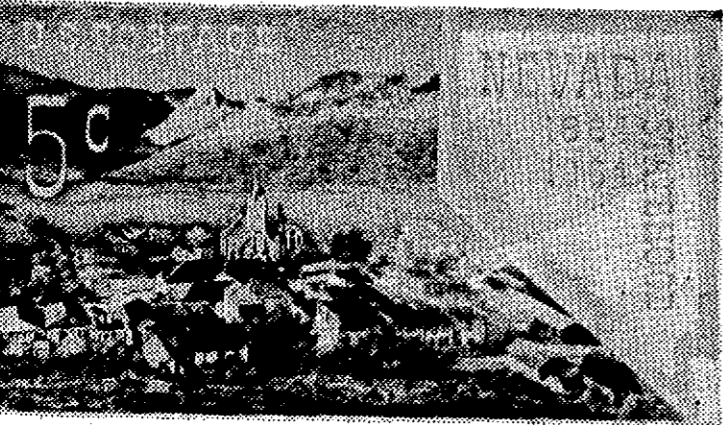

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—R. Sargent Shriver Jr., Peace Corps director, will come to Little Rock April 9 to discuss United States foreign policy. President Johnson has picked Shriver to head the federal "war on poverty." Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., arranged the visit in connection with the Great Decisions—1964 series.

The spring parade of fashions shows a strong military influence in coats, suits and costumes. Navy blue and white are a part of the story, as are brass buttons, generally lined up in double rows.

VERSATILE MISSILE—This air-to-surface missile has enabled the British air force to add muscle to its nuclear striking arm. Shown here at Wittering Royal Air Force Base, Northamptonshire, England, the nuclear missile is about to be fitted into an alcove under a bomber's belly, similar to the way in which the sleek, black X-15 rocket plane is held before launching in the United States tests. From its position, the missile can be fired with a range of 100 miles or more.

NEVADA CENTENNIAL—A commemorative postage stamp marking 100 years of statehood for Nevada will be issued shortly by the Post Office Department. The five-cent, multi-colored stamp is a view looking down from the mountains of Virginia City, the ghost town that was once a center of western culture.

CONSTANT VIGILANCE—Most U.S. schools have school-crossing guards, but in Saigon, Viet Nam, American schools need the protection of soldiers armed with rifles. The school and other important buildings in the war-torn country have been placed under military protection after a recent wave of bombings.

Declares NBC String Along Network

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Mitch Miller, the "sing along" man, says NBC is the string-along network.

"The network knew months ago that it planned to drop my show next season," Miller grumbled. "But instead of telling us then, they waited until March 1 to give us the news. Why did they keep stringing us along? Probably to keep us from making a deal to move elsewhere. They were afraid they'd look foolish if we landed on another network and started hitting one of their new shows in the ratings."

Miller, who owns "Sing Along With Mitch," complained that the only suggestion he had from the high command this season was to try some guest stars—ladies. The crisply tailored, notched collar shows up, too. It's a great way to march in to the new season.

"not to improve our ratings, but to work a little change in the show."

"We tried it in three shows," he said. "The only one that increased our audience was the show with Shirley Temple. People wrote in and asked us to cut out guests like Milton Berle and George Burns. They said they liked them but could see them other places and they liked our show the way it was."

Miller's show has been constantly moved around during four seasons in the NBC schedule. It has been seen on Thursday and on Friday nights and this season had a late Monday night spot, following a re-run of an old movie and "Hollywood and the Stars," which received consistently poor ratings.

Miller said NBC brass told him his show was out so the network could try something "new and fresh."

"New and fresh," he said. "I didn't say anything about old feature films for two hours at a clip. And the new and fresh thing they are bumping us for is Allred Hitchcock's series, which has been around longer than we have."

Tip to Some, Tax Cut May Be Smaller

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A tip to taxpayers in the middle to upper-middle income brackets:

Your tax cut may not be quite as big as it looked in your latest paycheck. Uncle Sam is withholding less this year than he used to, in proportion to the tax actually owed.

If you assume that the whole increase in take-home pay is yours to spend, you could find yourself in a pinch when income tax time rolls around a year from now.

Millions of taxpayers who usually get refunds will find the refund shrunken or gone entirely. A good many will be jarred to discover—unless they have taken steps to cushion the blow that they owe the government sums ranging from small amounts up to hundreds of dollars.

The "under-withholding" gap results from technical problems met in introducing lower rates with the year already one-sixth over.

For taxpayers earning wages or salaries up to the general neighborhood of $10,000 a year, the withholding comes fairly close to matching the tax actually owed.

But in higher brackets, where withholding always has fallen well short of covering the tax liability, the margin now widens perceptibly.

For a hypothetical example, take Harry X. Birdlong, a junior executive who is paid $15,000 a year. He had a wife and two children. Like most taxpayers in his bracket, he itemizes his deductions because his interest, tax and medical outlays exceed the $1,000 standard deduction. They add up to $2,500, about average for his income group.

He has just finished figuring his 1963 tax. It came to $2,225. The withholding amounted to $2,220. Birdlong, has sent the Internal Revenue Service $5 with his 1963 tax return.

For 1964 his federal income tax will drop to around $1,975. His paycheck withholding will come to about $1,810.

Instead of owing IRS only $5, he will owe something like $165.

With the new tax tables for 1964 which IRS has made available, Birdlong, can estimate his 1964 taxes in advance and remit larger quarterly payments.

MOC'S FAVORED

In both casual and school shoes, the classic moccasin in waxed and glove leathers is enjoying a renewed popularity. The leather moccasin is a great favorite with youngsters because its leather uppers permit free and easy action. The leather sole gives the most active child support throughout a busy day.

Although available in dozens of style variations, the moccasin most often selected by youngsters is the classic "perny" moccasin with simple hand-stitching and a strap design across the vamp.

For dress or party, the low-cut shell pump in a handsome leather finish makes every social occasion a full-dress affair. There are laced pumps in rounded or square toes, slip-on pumps in multi-colored leathers, and strap shoes with a real open feeling. Pastels—yellows, blues and pinks—are interpreted in soft, smooth leathers. Flashing patent leathers and glazed kid leathers also star on the birthday circuit.

Some Facts of Life in Arkansas

By J. C. TILLMAN
Associated Press Writer

For Civil War buffs—the Independence County Historical Society has reprinted the only known existing copy of a rare newspaper published during that war.

The newspaper, the Batesville Bazzoo, was published Feb. 6, 1864 by Union soldiers stationed in Batesville.

The copy the society reprinted in its quarterly, The Chronicle, was brought to attention by Admiral Morgan Powell of Santa Barbara, Calif., a Batesville native.

It gave locations of the various components of the federal command in Batesville.

At neighboring Memphis, Norman Thompson sliced a little real action into viewing of televised action recently.

Thompson was watching a TV movie when his set started acting up. He walked to his drug store to get a new tube for it.

When he entered, he saw a young man behind the counter, "just as if he worked there."

Thompson said, "and I was standing in front of the counter just like a customer."

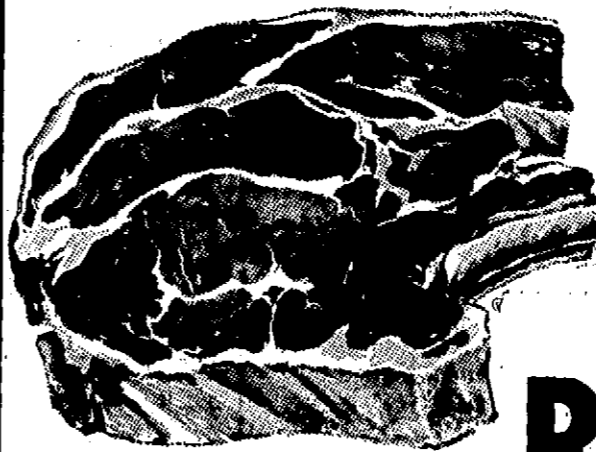

Thompson said he pulled a small pistol from the counter after the burglar started to run, and fired over his head. The burglar ran out the rear door and slammed it so hard it jammed.

Thompson, foiled in his attempt to catch the man, walked back home, put the tube in his set, and sat back down to watch the movie action.
